

Fall Fashion Show Proves Popular

The Fashion Show and Tea held in the separate school auditorium on Friday afternoon and evening proved a real success, when the Fashion Show, sponsored by The New Canadian Club, displayed the latest in fall styles. There was a capacity crowd at both afternoon and evening showings.

The hall was very beautifully decorated for the event with large sprays of ferns and flowers providing a lovely background on the stage for the models, who displayed steps twisted with autumn leaves. Fresh cut flowers adorned the tea tables which were arranged in cabaret style in the hall. McLeod's Furniture Store provided both the furniture on the stage and the carry over the models to walk on down through the audience.

Mrs. Mary Gaudet opened the show with a few words of welcome to the patrons both afternoon and evening. She then proceeded with a descriptive and very interesting commentary on the latest style trends as each of the girls and ladies modelled gowns and coats. Miss Lillian Bloom presided at the piano and supplied a background of soft music.

Those modelling the clothes included Misses R. Legacy, L. W. Smith, L. Mitchell, R. Taylor, W. Johnson, E. Walker and M. Gaudet, and Misses Margaret Chertier and Kathleen Jones. Little Misses Bonnie Torrance and Barbara Gehring modelled the Junior Misses and for the 4 to 5 year olds, Beverly Mitchell and Judy Nuel were lovely little models.

The latest trend in costume jewelry was shown with jewelry from D. E. Walker's Jeweller.

After the show a lovely lunch was served the audience by the ladies of the N.C. Club, bringing to a close another successful Fashion Show.

Legion Poppy Poster Competition

So that the memory of Canada's fallen heroes may be forever fresh in the minds of the growing generation, the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., has announced a Poppy Poster Competition among high school students. Offering substantial cash prizes for the best entries in each province, the Legion is hopeful that the competition will also encourage art students in their work. It is planned that the winning entries will be exhibited in each province and will also be used by the Legion in their poppy publicity.

The poppy poster should interpret in either colour or black and white the message of the poppy. Entries should not exceed 12 x 16 inches. Information about this competition can be obtained from any Legion branch.

Ready Money For Farm Improvement

SIMPLIFIED FINANCING HELPS GO-ALONG FARMERS

Ready money to a farmer can mean the difference between getting really successful in his enterprise, or just getting by. It can help him put his improvement plans into operation making his farm more productive and more profitable.

Many farmers, short of ready cash have found that a Bank of Montreal loan has made farm improvements a simple matter.

Some of the uses to which B. of M. Farm Improvement Loans have been put include:

More improved agricultural implements and equipment; electrical aids washing machines, cream separators refrigeration pumps, motors, milking machines; installation of lighting, heating and water systems; farm buildings, repairs and extensions; fencing, drainage and land improvement; new livestock for building up the herd;

If a lack of ready money is hindering your farm improvement plans call on Mr. Smith, local manager of the Bank of Montreal. You will find that he knows and understands the farmer's problems. His attitude on farm credit is: "When you ask for a loan at the B. of M., you do not ask a favour."

Filtered Air In Home Keeps Out Millions Of Strangers

Every time the occupant of a home opens a window or door to let in some outdoor air he also admits millions of particles of dirt, dust and soot. According to the Indoor Comfort Educational Bureau the outside air in the average city contains between one and five million dust particles per cubic foot.

Harmful germs and bacteria are carried by these particles, according to the Bureau, which may affect the health of the occupants of the house. In addition, the dirt, dust and soot cause home furnishings to soil two to three times faster than in homes enjoying filtered air. By filtering outside air as it is taken into the home nearly all of these particles can be eliminated. Particles which enter the home when the occupants open the door upon leaving and entering the home are removed from the air when it is circulated through the indoor comfort system.

An Open Letter To W.H.S. Students

September 25, 1947
To the High School Students,
Wainwright, Alberta,

By courtesy of the Wainwright Star I am allowed the privilege of a few words with you. In your school there is a notice asking for designs for a Poppy Campaign Poster. This competition is for high school students only, and there is no reason why a Wainwright student should not win the Dominion award or at least one of the Provincial awards.

You are all alert and intelligent young people and amongst the earliest recollections of each of you must have been the annual Poppy Day in your community. You all know the lines:

"In Flanders fields the poppies blow,

Between the crosses row on row,
That it was from these lines the idea arose that the Poppy should be made a symbol of sacrifice and a token of remembrance. Those of you who have attended funerals of ex-service personnel where the Legion's last rites have been observed, will have noted the symbolic use of the poppy on those occasions.

There you have the idea for your poster. Something embodying the idea of sacrifice and remembrance, of comradeship and suffering. Don't say to yourself that chance have led you against all Canada." The judges of your efforts will not know who you are but they'll recognize your merit. The winning poster will be used as the official Poppy Poster of Canada, and the winner's name will be known throughout the land.

May I presume to offer this advice. Remember that a poster is not necessarily a pretty picture; it may even be exaggerated in some detail, and by all standards of conventional art "out of drawing", but it must be striking and rigid—something at which one will look twice and return and look again.

Won't you please try.

Yours sincerely,

CHAS. H. HORN,

President.

Don't Delay Training Bid Is D.V.A. Advice

The Department of Veterans Affairs has warned that some thousands of veterans across Canada may lose their opportunity for vocational training if application for training is not made immediately.

It was explained that in all cases except pensioners, veterans are charged comparatively recently or undergoing treatment, the right to apply for vocational training ends December 31st of this year. Because of the fact there are still a few months, a number of veterans are deferring their applications in order to take advantage of summer employment.

This is quite understandable, but it places us in the difficult position of trying to anticipate what the training load will be later in the year and during the winter months. At the moment, training facilities are more than adequate but we are faced with the necessity of closing out certain institutions and classes because there are not sufficient veterans taking these particular courses. The expense of these classes cannot be justified on the mere assumption that next November or December might bring an increased number of applications for them. Thus, it is imperative that those who require training commence while facilities are still adequate.

Plan Postponement

It must be explained that the Department has made a small survey and has found a number of veterans have expressed intention to take vocational training before the period of entitlement ends, but have also stated they were planning to defer commencement of training until the last possible moment.

The situation that could be created in this way, of course, can easily be gauged. With a number of classes closed down, it might take some time to get these veterans who defer their applications into appropriate courses. It might carry them into periods of seasonal unemployment.

It is emphasized that all veterans planning to take vocational training should make their applications at once at the nearest District Office and be prepared to start their courses as soon as they are notified of the training opportunity.

Pres. Of British Legion Visits Canada

"Dollars or no dollars Britain will recover her strength, her power and her glory, and will yet make as notable a contribution to the world's progress as she has ever done," Sir Ian Fraser, M.P., President of the British Legion, told a meeting of Legionnaires in Ottawa recently.

Sir Ian, who lost his sight at the battle of the Somme and is also chairman of St. Dunstan's, was the guest of the Canadian Legion. He was escorted by Major General C. B. Price, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion.

The British Legion chief who had addressed the American Legion convention in New York a few days previously told the Legionnaires that Britain should let its sterling drop to its natural level, "to make the law of supply and demand work for us instead of against us."

Saying that Britain had made a remarkable recovery from the exhaustion of war, he said more men and women were at work in the country today than ever before.

While coal and cotton production were down and "we are suffering from some disillusionment, some labor troubles and some untimely political experiments" total production in Great Britain was between 10 and 20 per cent higher than before the war.

Crux of the problem was that the land depended upon buying and selling in the markets of the world, and they are out of joint."

"We want to buy many things that you grow and make in Canada and in the United States. But we can buy them only if you buy an equivalent amount of goods and services from us. Until we can fully recreate our industry, build up our shipping, and re-establish our financial and other services for which, London was the world centre, we cannot balance our account with North America."

"Britain is living in a world of Social Gathering for Local Couple

Some twenty relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Girard on Wednesday evening last week for a surprise party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Goddard who are leaving Wainwright to make their home in Viking.

A pleasant social evening was spent by playing cards. The gifts of honor were presented with a gust of remembrance, after which a dainty lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Goddard left at the week-end for Viking where Tom has been transferred to the Atlas Lumber Co. Yard.

financial illusion and false shrovetide prosperity. If sterling is dropped to its natural level, this would effectively limit sales from the hard currencies and encourage purchasing from Britain by Canada and the United States."

Speaking of his work as president of the British Legion, Sir Ian urged the Legion of the Commonwealth to do their part in keeping the Commonwealth together.

"Now that we are civilians, we must place our duty to our country before our rights, just as we did when serving in the armed forces," he said. Sir Ian had great praise for the work that the Canada branches of the British Legion were doing in the United Kingdom. "The British Legion is considerably enriched by the addition of these hardworking young Canadians. We welcome them as comrades who served with us in war and who will help us immeasurably in winning the peace," he concluded.

The British Legion chief was accompanied by his wife Lady Fraser.

Exercise "Adios" Seen By Many People

Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington "fought his last action" as a member of the Canadian army Sunday when he drove a tank in Exercise "Adios," a battle drill, at Wainwright. While his pennant as G.O.C. of Western Army Command, streamed out jauntily over his tank, the general, who is known as Canada's foremost exponent of tank warfare, served as a "trooper" under the orders of a corporal tank commander.

About 400 civilians watched the Lord Strathcona Horse and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry launch an infantry-tank attack on some dummy enemy tanks on the crest of a hill. Ten minutes before the attack got underway, three Harvard aircraft of the City of Edmonton 418 squadron dropped practice bombs on the defending area.

Live ammunition was used and the targets were obliterated by the fire of three-inch mortars, Sherman tank 75 millimetre guns and machine gun fire. Spectators on a hill about 500 yards from the targets appreciated the realism of the demonstration as the air reverberated with the sound of exploding shells.

Among the spectators was Maj.-Gen. M. H. S. Penhale who succeeds Gen. Worthington. He arrived shortly before the demonstration took place, after driving from Banff.

Spectators included many from Edmonton, executives of veterans groups, reserve army leaders, members of citizens' committees and others, as well as people from Wainwright and the surrounding district. Prior to Sunday's battle, Gen. Worthington said he was glad to be going out of the army in battle, even if it is only a mock battle. His wish was fulfilled as he saw the action through the narrow peep-hole of a tank.

Gen. Worthington and his tank commander exchanged compliments after the exercise. The tank commander was Cpl. K. Patterson, of Swift Current, Sask. Now a member

Increase In Veterans Pensions Urgently Needed

An increase in the pension rates of disabled veterans is urgently needed according to a strongly worded letter sent to Prime Minister King by Major General C. B. Price, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion.

Veteran pensioners and their dependents have not had an increase in their basic rates for more than twenty-five years. With the increased cost of living the veterans find that they cannot make ends meet on their monthly stipend.

The letter to the Government reads as follows:

"The Government's failure to implement Legion representations in behalf of disabled and aged veterans, widows and orphans, presented to you and Members of the Cabinet last November and again in modified form, in May, has caused bitter disappointment and much resentment among members of the Legion and ex-service men generally across Canada."

"I am disturbed by the tenor of the resolutions we are now receiving. The veteran body does not understand why the Government, by its decisions or actions, should have assisted many other groups to secure higher incomes to offset living costs, while those who sacrificed the most in our war effort should be left to struggle with the problem unsolved."

"Prevalling conditions and rates of pensions, the widows and children of those who lost their lives and the unemployable disabled ex-service men and women with families are placed on a lower standard of living through their sacrifice, a situation which, I am convinced from my travels across the Dominion, the Canadian people will accept any financial burden to avoid. The plight of the burnt out veterans in receipt of War Veterans' Allowance is equally serious and urgently demands relief."

"Conditions at the time justified our submissions and subsequent service, if required. The dining room staff will be on hand to provide good meals for teachers at regular hours. A banquet and dance is planned for Thursday evening October 18th. Over 200 teachers will likely attend, if the weather is fine. Wainwright, who has held their own convention for the past few years are back again this year to make this a large convention.

of the Lord Strathcona Horse, Cpl. Patterson has spent five years in the army. He served overseas with the Sherbrooke Fusiliers as a tank gunner.

Gen. Worthington told spectators the idea of such an exercise was to bring the army closer to the public. As the public was paying for it, the public had a right to know how effective its training is. He added there is no intention of returning to "the old days" when the public never came near the army.

He introduced Gen. Penhale, who said he echoed Gen. Worthington's sentiments in seeking public support of the army.

The two crack regiments of active force troops amazed onlookers with the exhibition of accurate marksmanship as they pounded the targets to pieces. Smoke was used freely as covering for infantry who went through their manoeuvres in a manner that reflects their high degree of training.

Spectators came from many points as guests of the army. Mayor and Mrs. J. Robinson and a number of others from Wainwright were invited to be present for "Exercise Adios" and very cordially entertained. A buffet lunch and a high tea were served. At 6:00 p.m. the drums of the P.C.L.I. beat "Retreat" and the flag was lowered.

New Minister at St Andrews Presbyterian

A new minister has come to St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Wainwright, in the person of Rev. L. L. Young, B.A., D.D. Dr. Young, for many years served the church as a missionary to the Koreans in their own land and later to the Korean people living in Japan. Since returning from the foreign work he has held pastorates in Beaumont, Cal., and Springfield, Nova Scotia. He has thus had a wide experience both in the foreign and home work of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The Rev. Mr. Young is appointed as Pastor to the above church and will be in residence in the new Manse building.

We wish for him and his family much joy and blessing in their stay amongst us.

Hints For Hunters

In an effort to curb shooting accidents the Canadian Small Bore Association has issued the following ten commandments for shooting safety:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with action open, into your automobile, camp or home.
3. Be sure the barrel and action are always clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so you can control the direction of the muzzle even to your stomach.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not wish to shoot.
7. Never leave a gun unattended unless you first unload it.
8. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot at a flat surface or the surface of water.
10. Do not mix gunpowder, alcohol and gasoline.

BE COURTEOUS

When out hunting this Fall don't forget to obtain permission from the farmer on whose land you intend to shoot, and for goodness sake don't forget to close the gates after you, and keep an eye out for cattle and horses in pasture.

The weather meted out to us has not been as bad as to Florida and Japan and other parts of the world, even to other parts of our own Province, but it has been most unsatisfactory from the stand point of the harvesting and hauling of the grain. The past week has been a succession of rain with the thermometer hovering round the freezing point at night. Many attended the wedding dance in Doley Hall on the evening of Saturday the 27th. It is amazing how a pound of round steak which would ordinarily serve three or four people may be stretched to make a satisfactory and delicious meat course for six. To be sure it does require a little extra effort on the part of the cook but the saving is always worthwhile.

OUR DISTRICT CORRESPONDENTS

We believe the time has come when we should give recognition where recognition is due. We'd like to make deep obeisance to our district correspondents for their efforts on behalf of The Star, for their efforts, much of the news interest from the surrounding districts is supplied. They report the homely little everyday happenings that can mean so much to subscribers who have moved to other parts yet are deeply interested in the activities and events in the lives of their old neighbors and friends.

Quite often, we realize, correspondence becomes a real chore especially when that deadline rolls inexorably around every Monday, and there just isn't any news to report. However, our faithful reporters usually come through and we are proud to say that both ourselves and our readers can rely on the receipt of the district news week in and week out, and that we can rely too on the factual reporting contained therein.

Unlike daily newspaper writing, there's not much glamor to the life of a country correspondent. But there is field for much personal satisfaction; satisfaction that is derived from accurate reporting of activities of one's own community; satisfaction from stories that will do much in promoting the district in which one lives, or the people with whom one associates; and the satisfaction that comes from knowing that your work is an important part of the paper for which you are writing.

ADULT EDUCATION

(Contributed)

The Government of British Columbia have recently appointed one of their foremost educators as the kingpin in a move to educate the adult population of British Columbia in the use of alcohol. Or perhaps we should say that portion of the population who does use it because it is well enough known there are many people who, as a beverage, do not use it at all. For some time the government of the neighboring province endeavored to get a man from the medical profession but not being able to get just the right man for the position, though it sent to Eastern Canada to find one, finally choose one of its own citizens. It is probably a good move because even of the new appointee does not advocate abstinence he certainly will advocate temperance. We believe that in this appointment there lies a lesson for Alberta. Not so much to copy it to the letter as to bring about a better understanding between the government and the people as regards Alberta's liquor laws. It must be understood that the liquor problem is a difficult thing for any government to handle but at the same time it should be understood that it is also a profitable thing, as regards dollars and cents for any government to handle. What has been brought home to us in recent months is the almost complete ignorance of many of our citizens, even those who habitually use alcohol as a beverage, concerning the Alberta Liquor Act. What to an unthinking and to some extent foolish person appears to be a simple enough thing under the Act, it does not become an offence. We are not criticizing the Act, it no doubt has been written with the general welfare of the citizens in mind, but inasmuch as the government directly controls much of the distribution of beverage alcohol, it would be we believe good business on their part to by some means or other educate the public as to what can and what cannot be done. A good publicity agent could accomplish wonders, a good advertising campaign would help, an appointment similar to that of the province of British Columbia would not be out of place.

The lives and happiness of our children, as far ahead as the mind can reach, depend on us today. If we succeed, posterity looking back will record that this was indeed man's finest hour.

—Carl A. Berendsen

by ottawa observer

A new outlook on Great Britain's Production crisis which threatens world trade is noticeable here since Canada's finance minister delivered a notable address last week to the governors of both the "International Monetary Fund" and the "World Bank for Reconstruction".

The principal value of Mr. Abbott's address was to bring fresh courage to millions of depressed people in the world. It was a bloom to the predictors of disaster who are often suspected of hoping for the things they predict. It is recognized that food can be brought to the starving only by breaking the fetters from world trade. "What is required now is not a gloomy resignation to an inevitable worsening of the present situation. What is required is a fresh effort of will and imagination to achieve our original objective".

This could well be taken as a lead for all to follow. Mr. Abbott emphasized that the war was not won by giving up after the first try but by continual and renewed efforts to meet ever changing conditions.

Dominion-Provincial Relations again

The need for change and flexibility in the responsibilities of our Federal and provincial governments is again shown in the demand from the packing house labour unions that the negotiations for settlement of their strike be carried out on a "national" basis. As this is being written three provinces have agreed to transfer their "rights" to the federal government so that this can be done. The premier of one of the largest provinces (Quebec) has warned the federal government against any interference in its "right" with respect to labour negotiations. The government of Ontario has made no move to allow federal government intervention in a strike that might take meat from the tables even of our people who do the hardest physical work of our miners, lumbermen and factory workers.

The provincial governments of Quebec and Ontario appear to forget that the welfare of our people must come above theoretical or ancient "rights". The people of all provinces are represented in the federal government of Canada and "national" issues can only be handled by a "national" government. To call this "dangerous centralization" as Premier Drew and Duplessis are doing is not facing the facts of modern life in Canada.

In the face of this situation the "Monroe Doctrine" perhaps in order to maintain its position against the duties and authority of the federal government, made the fantastic suggestion that the provinces should get together themselves in order to work out a solution of the strike. To create a new federal authority in Canada would not seem a sensible way of meeting national problems and could only bring disaster to our country.

The Only Road to Harmony

There is agreement among the keenest observers here with the recent report of a well known writer who interviewed our Prime Minister. The experience of the last few years has shown that the fundamental principles outlined by the Prime Minister are essential for the prosperity and welfare, not only of our industrial workers, but of all our people.

The first of these principles which Mr. King has always stressed is that the needs of the whole community must always be ranked above those of labour, management or capital.

The next principle is one that should be carefully remembered today when so many political ideologies in the world want to "force" their own peculiar ideas on the community. It is that there are only two ways to settle a dispute, industrial or international: by force or by persuasion (consent). This can only be done by men whose attitude is right, by men who honestly and sincerely want to reach a settlement. Certainly it can never be by a management that takes the short rule by "divine right" or by labour leaders who foment discord for the advancement of their own political party or fortunes.

"Industry's basic function is to be the servant of humanity; so should nationality; never vice versa".

"Sweating" on cold water pipes and plumbing fixtures is caused by condensation of water vapor in the air.

Sir:

The calling of a national conference by the Honorable Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare, for October 13 and 14 in Ottawa is the first step in a war on arthritis and rheumatic diseases by the Federal Government. This was prompted by thousands of appeals to the members of parliament by sufferers from arthritis and other persons and groups who are actively interested in the need for national recognition of arthritis. Fundamentally the plea calls for government action to place arthritis on the same basis as tuberculosis and cancer in Canada.

On June 10, 1947 the Honorable Mr. Martin had the following to say, in part, on arthritis in reply to Dr. Blair, M.P. (Lanark, Ontario).

"The hon. member referred to arthritis, and perhaps later in the estimates I shall have more to say about this specific item—that the technique we employed early in January in talking together here in Ottawa—those who were interested in cancer control, will be employed again when all the authorities, governmental and professional in the field of arthritis, are called within a very few months, to see if we cannot provide some co-ordinating authority to carry on in the field of arthritis."

Through the offices of my department I have had an opportunity of consultation with Lord Horder who is one of the outstanding authorities in his profession in the rheumatic field and who has in Great Britain set up a number of investigational clinical centres for the treatment of this malady.

Likewise, Doctor Wallace Graham of Toronto, an eminent physician in this particular field, has also been in consultation with the department. These two sources, to whom I have referred, together with the Canadian Rheumatism Association, will be the basis of a conference which, I hope, will lead to an examination of all possible avenues available to bring about some relief in respect of this painful affliction." (Hansard, June 10, 1947 - P. 4077)

The Canadian Rheumatism Association was reorganized from the Canadian Rheumatic Diseases Association and became affiliated with the Canadian Medical Association at the June 1947 national C.M.A. convention in Banff. Officers of its executive are: Pres. Dr. Wallace Graham, Toronto; Vice-Pres. Dr. Dean Robinson, Banff and Dr. Dandurand, Montreal; Sec. Dr. W. S. Barnhart of Ottawa.

On June 6, 1946, the Honorable Brooke Claxton, then minister of national health and welfare, promised a government grant for arthritis research, but to date, so far as we know, nothing has materialized. Today 600,000 arthritis cases in Canada are looking with hope and expectation to this meeting in Ottawa as a first step towards government recognition of Canada's Number One Crippler.

Yours,
PEARL LANDMAN.

FARMING NOTES

WINTER HOUSING OF PIGS

For the average breeder who is growing a moderate number of pigs, the cost of winter housing can be held to a low figure by using well constructed straw sheds and by planning the farrowing dates for seasons of the year when temperatures are suitable, says H. Van Nieu, Dominion

Experimental Station, Scott, Sask.

Straw sheds may be supplemented by portable wall cabins or the "A" shaped cabins for housing sows with litters, but if used in cold weather they should be banked with straw. These cabins can be easily moved to fresh land. Both the cabin and straw shed should have an opening in the south to be used for both a door and ventilation. This opening should be kept uncovered except in very stormy weather when a burlap bag may be hung over it. Ventilation is important to remove excess moisture and reduce the collection of frost inside.

At Scott, straw sheds have been constructed approximately 12 by 14 feet as it was considered easier to control steam and moisture when pigs were housed in small numbers.

Almost as important as housing is the liberal supply of bedding and in the case of the straw shed, if bedding becomes scarce the pigs damage the walls to obtain bedding unless the inside of the walls are protected by boards or some such material.

If pigs are to arrive at various times of the year provisions should be made for farrowing pens where the temperature can be maintained well above freezing until the pigs are at least a week old. For want of better conditions, many pigs have been farrowed in the barn where other stock are housed in sufficient numbers to keep the temperature from becoming too low. Small buildings such as granaries may be banked with straw and a slope used but if many pigs are to arrive in winter some permanent arrangement should be made and perhaps a pig brooder constructed.

Mending Minds

Illnesses of the mind can be cured in the great majority of cases just as definitely as ill of the body. National Health experts in mental health declare that early treatment is the essence of cure in these, as in physical ailments.

Mental hospitals in Canada are now discharging 60% of their patients within one year of admission and some cases require treatment for only a few weeks.

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

Approximately 60% of children entering schools in Canada these days show one or more physical defects, according to carefully-compiled statistics.

Medical and public health authorities are urging on parents the importance of pre-school medical examinations. "Be sure to give the child a chance for success in studies and in sport, by remedying any minor defects which would otherwise be a handicap," one medical authority advised parents. "Have the family doctor examine your child now, to detect, and correct, any minor troubles."

CAN RADIO SELL? — AND HOW!

One of the most amazing examples of the power of radio was brought forth most forcefully in Edmonton Monday, September 22.

Using radio only as our sales medium CICA and CFRN joined hands in promoting Edmonton's third annual community chest football game.

The game is now history and for the third successive year CICA, Dogpatch Dodgers defeated CFRN Sunwapa Braves. But this was a minor accomplishment in relation to the tremendous promotion results derived.

ed. We won't go into all the details, but you can read between the lines and form your own conclusions. Here's what happened:

The Program—Mammoth parade in downtown Edmonton followed by football game at Renfrew Park.

The Score—Dogpatch Dodgers 10; Sunwapa Braves 8.

The Turnout—In the park 11,000 fans. Outside 2,000 turned away and an unestimated number who couldn't reach the area due to congested streets.

The Results—1. The largest crowd in Edmonton history. 2. Community Chest campaign away to a bang-up start. 3. Lots of stiff muscles, creaky joints and scraped knees.

The Conclusion—Radio really can sell.

Hints for the Household

GETTING VEGETABLES READY FOR WINTER

Putting away the garden produce for winter use requires considerable effort but keeping these vegetables in good condition is relatively easy if a few simple rules are carefully followed.

Change in storage arrangement within the available space will make a great difference in the life and nutritive values of vegetables.

Temperature is important. Potatoes, if chilled below 36°F., will be sweet and waxy when cooked but will sprout and wilt if kept above 41°F., therefore they must be stored at between 36°F. and 40°F. Other root vegetables such as beets, carrots, turnips and rutabaga, keep well if packed in sand and at temperatures between 35°F. and 38°F.

Tomatoes picked when almost mature, yet green will keep for some time if they are free from insect injury or skin punctures and if they have not been touched by frost.

Hard and heavy heads of cabbage are in prime condition for storage. Left in the field too long the heads will burst and become too crisp or brittle, while heads cut when soft or immature will wilt badly.

Before placing in storage, outside leaves should be stripped off, as these interfere with ventilation which is one of the most important essentials in the storage of cabbage.

Cabbage heads should be well cooled before placing in storage. One method of storing cabbage is to bring the heads into the store room with roots attached, and place these roots in moist sand on the floor with heads in an upright position as closely together as possible.

Another method is to cut the heads from the roots, leaving about two inches of stalk attached, and place these trimmed heads on the side shelves of the storage with two

Watch for posters of the Auction Sale of the Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaw farm and household effects to be sold October 21 by Reynolds and Oxy, Auctioneers.

Mrs. Harold Murray is here from Edmonton visiting with Miss A. Zehnder for a short holiday.

Mr. M. H. Allott left by train early Monday for Red-Pass Junction, B.C. to take up his duties as foreman for Intrusion Prepaid Ltd. Several of the other Wainwright boys have also gone to Red Pass.

After an annual holiday spent visiting relatives and friends in Edmonton and Dauphin, Mr. Charles Thurber is back as accountant at the local Treasury Branch.

Mrs. A. Lowes arrived in town at the week-end to prepare to move their household effects, as Archie has received a transfer from the local C.N.R. Express office.

A third method is to pile trimmed cabbage heads on the cellar floor in the form of a long pyramidal heap with a six or eight head base, and stack to one head at the top, extending pile to length desired.

Perfect heads of cauliflower may be stored for a considerable time by lifting each plant with root attached, leaves tied up over the head, and planting close together in moist sand or soil on the storage floor. If late plants are available they will keep in this manner until January or early in February.

It has been found that cauliflower cut slightly before reaching full maturity will keep better than fully matured heads.

Temperatures of 33°F. to 40°F., have been found to be the most satisfactory for cauliflower. High temperatures cause the surface of the head to brown, turn brown, and become loose very quickly.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say that those broken heads of cabbage, over-ripe cucumbers, slightly browned cauliflower and small green tomatoes that are not good enough to store will be perfect for pickles.

Equipment Available
To Purify Water

Most present day water supplies are rigidly protected and purified to prevent outbreaks of disease, but many local conditions such as hard water, sediment, odor, or taste continue to cause complaints. These troubles are greatest in rural areas where local wells supply neighboring homes.

The Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating points out that most complaints are unnecessary as equipment can now be obtained to "condition" water, making it clear and palatable as well as reducing scale and corrosion which are a continual handicap in maintaining any water supply system.

Chief problems in obtaining pure water supply are due to the chemical content of the water which varies in different parts of the country.

In some areas the water is hard and tends to clog piping by deposits of lime or other scale as well as prevent a suitable lather forming in the laundry tub and giving the water an unpleasant taste. "Hard water" is caused by the large amount of mineral salts dissolved in the water. Commonest minerals are calcium and magnesium compounds such as lime or epsom salts. Modern equipment is now available to remove excess chemicals, as well as filter the water and remove objectionable odors.

the water is too "soft." Lack of minerals dissolved in it makes water more chemically active. As a result it will corrode tanks and piping more rapidly, and although it is best for laundry and bathing because it lathers easily, it is flat tasting to drink. Equipment is available to "harden" soft water to the right degree.

Another problem of water supplies is the presence of small quantities of sulphur, iron or other solid materials which cloud the water and give it a taste. Such suspended matter also can be removed by modern equipment, making water clear and palatable, as well as more suitable for general use around the home.

Electricity on the Farm

E. B. Martin, Extension Agricultural Engineer for the Alberta Department of Agriculture says that few Alberta Farmers who have electricity available, make full use of it—in spite of the fact that the more kilowatt hours used the less it costs for each kilowatt hour of energy.

The number of ways in which electricity can be used on the farm is almost unbelievable. Mr. Martin estimates that of the 800 or so that are listed from time to time, 75 can be put to practical use on the average farm in this province. They will pay for themselves, again and again in time and labour saved. At a cost of $600 for installation and another $500 for equipment, an average farm electrification unit represents an investment of $1200. That $1200 investment should be used to the fullest extent economically possible.

Mr. Martin cites as an example the case of two neighbours—both with the same source of power. One of them uses his electricity merely for lights in the house. He consumes, say, 20 kilowatt hours in an average month at the minimum cost of $5.50. His neighbour, who has an electric motor on the pump, a pig brooder, a hot plate, a quarter horse-power portable on the fanning mill and the bench grinder, (as well as lights in the house, barn, piggery, pump house, granary and shop) uses about 60 kilowatt hours in an average month. He has a bill of $5.50 (the minimum) plus 70 kilowatt hours at two cents—or $1.40 to give a total of $6.90. For all this additional energy, the cost to this farmer has been $1.40 per month.

Mr. Martin will be pleased to offer suggestions on the use of electricity on the farm, and to receive enquiries with reference to other phases of farm electrification. Address your letter to: E. B. Martin, Extension Agricultural Engineer, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. (8-10)

The World Of Wheat

THE QUESTION OF RYE

Some people seem to be quite agitated about the high price of rye. For those who are considering this matter here are a few recent pieces of evidence.

One of Canada's ablest private crop reporters states that on a recent trip over the West he saw in the drought area many fields of wheat with yields so low that the farmers were not harvesting them. The fields were abandoned; but that in the same district fields of rye, with similar low yields, were being most carefully harvested and the grain saved and shipped to market. This because the higher price for rye paid to do the harvesting. So grain for human consumption was saved.

The Saskatchewan "Star Phoenix" of Sept. 2nd tells us that a single carload of rye was purchased from farmers at Haine Lake for the sum of $7,160.00 or $3.35 a bushel. It is calculated that it would take three carloads of wheat at present prices to fetch the same amount of money as did this one carload of rye.

A farmer who has done well on rye said this in a recent letter: "While wheat may be the staff of life, rye surely is the gold-headed cane."

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS
According to Broomhall's annual Supply-Demand Survey, some $27.5 million bushels of wheat will be required in world trade this year while available supplies amount to only $45 million bushels, giving a deficit of $2.5 million bushels—France's estimated at 320 million bushels, considerably less than half the pre-1947 wheat crop is now officially war average.

Great Britain has established a reduced goal of 150,000 acres by 1948 and 300,000 acres by 1951. Pre-war only 2,800 acres were sown to rye, while the 1940-1944 average was approximately 20,000 acres, and the 1947 acreage was placed at 30,000 acres—Russia has agreed to supply Poland with 10 million bushels of grain to help relieve the anticipated food shortage until next summer.

"Sweating" on cold water pipes and plumbing fixtures is caused by condensation of water vapor in the air.

Leadership

Elbert Hubbard once wrote: "If you get ten girls at work in a room, you will find by the third day that nine of these girls are asking the 10th girl these questions:

"Is this all right?"
"Where is the thread?"
"What shall I do next?"
There always has to be somebody to start things moving. To originate, initiate, take risks, guide others, provide work.

Any economic system which discourages leadership levels all people down to the lowest is flying in the face of Nature and is harming mankind. —Don Herold.
